Introducing Your New Neighbors

We're so excited to welcome five new people to our community since our last newsletter. Tim Hummel was the first to move into the new building on Fieldstone Place. He's settled into #2810 and has decorated his walls with wildlife animals that he's hunted. His son is a taxidermist so he's turned them into some great displays. Tim's hobbies include hunting, obviously, and he also makes fishing poles by hand. Tim teaches HVAC At South East Technical Institute and is looking forward to having the summer off to pursue his hobbies.

New neighbor Diana Grandgeorge has moved into 5308 Cobblestone #8. She's been a first grade teacher at Eugene Field Elementary for the past nine years. Having graduated from USF she's done several summer camps with kids with disabilities, and basketball camps. Four years ago she coached the USF Cougars. Diana has some great plans for customizing her kitchen with a glass tile back splash so be sure to ask her about it when you see her. She's also added a cabinet in her garage to store all her sports equipment.

"I think it's fabulous!" was Terri Meisen's reply when asked how she felt about living in Whisper Ridge. She moved into 5400 Cobblestone, #8 the end of March and has had fun decorating her home. She works at TriState Neighbors, an ag related newspaper. She designs ads and does layouts and has been there for 22 years. For fun and relaxation Terri enjoys her family and five sisters. She's also been taking advantage of the walking trails and rumor has it that she's got a nice crop of cucumbers growing on her patio. Let's hope for continued rain and lots of sunshine for a bumper crop!

Just moving into 2815 E Brome are Jane Hannestad and her daughters, Katie who's 14, and Carly, 12. The girls are very excited about their new home and chose some very unique paint colors for their rooms. Katie will be attending Lincoln High School and Carly will be at Patrick Henry this fall. Jane works in the Human Resources at the city of Sioux Falls. She was born in Minnesota but has been in the area for the past 16 years. Jane's looking forward to finding something fun to do for relaxation after she gets settled in.
